

Alexandra Tanguay's bio

Alexandra Tanguay is a seasoned professional in the field of finance, with an unwavering commitment to responsible investment. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration with a specialization in Finance from Laval University. She furthered her knowledge by obtaining an MBA in Finance, where she distinguished herself through her research on responsible investment focused on environmental, social, and governance (ESG) criteria.

In 2021, she enhanced her expertise by becoming a CFA charterholder, marking the beginning of a new phase in her career. Her passion for responsible investment also led her to obtain the ESG Investing Certification from the CFA Institute and the Responsible Investment Advisor Certification (RIAC) from the Responsible Investment Association, thereby strengthening her ability to integrate these principles into her portfolio management, making her an innovative and disciplined manager.

Since 2018, Alexandra has brought her expertise to the team at RGP Investments, where she has progressed to become a portfolio manager. Her diverse professional background also includes experiences in marketing, project management, and financial analysis for a renowned firm in Toronto. These experiences have allowed her to develop her interpersonal skills, creativity, and analytical acumen, essential assets in the field of finance.

Committed to her field, Alexandra has been serving on the audit and risk management committee of CFA Quebec since 2022. Additionally, she has led the Quebec City committee of the Association of Women in Finance of Quebec for the past four years, actively contributing to the advancement of the profession.
